Please read this policy carefully to understand our policies and practices regarding your information and how we will treat it (“Privacy Policy”). By accessing our website or mobile application, including any products and services offered on or through our website or any subsite, subdomain, or successor site, or any mobile application which links to this policy (collectively, our “Website”), you agree to this Privacy Policy. If you do not agree with all of the terms, conditions, and practices set forth below, do not access the Website. By submitting personal information to us, you give us permission to receive it, review it, edit it, store it, and use it for the purposes described in this Privacy Policy.

This Privacy Policy may change from time to time. Your continued use of this Website after we make changes is deemed to be an acceptance of those changes, so please check the Privacy Policy periodically for updates. If we make a material change about how we treat our members’ personal information we will notify you via the website.

This Privacy Policy describes the types of information we may collect from you or that you may provide when you visit the Website and our practices for collecting, using, maintaining, protecting, and disclosing that information.

This Privacy Policy applies to the information we collect on the Website, in email, text, or other electronic messages between you and the Website. This Privacy Policy does not apply to any services that do not display or link to this Privacy Policy or that have their own privacy policy statements. Additionally, this Privacy Policy does not apply to any external websites that may be linked to the Website.

Information We Collect About You and How We Collect It

We may collect several types of information from or about users of our Website, including information:

- By which you may be personally identified, such as your name, address, email, telephone number, and Banking Information;
- About you individually but does not identify you; and/or
- About your internet connection, the equipment you use to access our Website, and usage details.

We collect this information directly from you when you provide it to us and automatically as you navigate through the Website. Information collected automatically may include usage details, IP addresses, and information collected through cookies, web beacons, and other tracking technologies.

Information We Collect

As you navigate through the Website, we may collect two types of information from you: (1) “personally identifiable information” (as described below); and (2) “non-personally identifiable information” (as described below).

“Personally identifiable information” is information that can be used to uniquely identify or contact a single person, directly or indirectly in conjunction with other public information.

There are a number of ways in which you may provide us with and consent to our collection of certain personal information. Here are some examples of the ways in which we may collect and store your personally identifiable information through the Website:

- We may collect your first and last name, email address, mobile phone number or other information when you register for our services and create an account;
- We may collect certain information about your family members if you add your family or household to your account;
- We may collect personal information you submit to us, such as your name, phone number, and email address when you contact us; and
- We may collect your first and last name, mailing address, and payment information (such as credit card number and expiration date) if you make a payment on the Website.

“Non-personally identifiable information” can be technical information or it can be demographic information, such as your age, name, gender, or interests. Non-personally identifiable information may also mean aggregated, non-identifiable, or anonymized information. Non-personally identifiable information does not identify you personally. If you do provide us with non-personally identifiable information, we may use it for the purposes described in this Privacy Policy, or any other legal purpose.

Here are some examples of ways through which we may collect and store your non-personally identifiable information through the Website, and how we use such information:

- Log Information: When you use the Website or view content provided by CINC, we automatically collect and store certain information in our server logs. This type of information includes details of how you use our service, IP address information described below, web pages which have been viewed by you, date and time, domain type, device event information such as crashes, system activity, hardware, settings, browser type, browser language, the date and time of your requests, and referral.
- Internet Protocol (IP) Address: Your “IP address” is a number that lets computers attached to the internet know where to send you data, such as screens and pages of our Website that you view. We use this information to deliver our screens and pages to you upon request, to tailor our services to the interests of you and our other visitors, and to measure traffic to and within our Website.
- Demographic Information: “Demographic Information” may be gender, age, zip code, and interests. We may collect such information about you through our services and use it to provide you with personalized services and to analyze trends to ensure that our Website and the information on them is targeted to meet your needs. Please note that we also consider aggregated information, which is not personally identifiable, to be non-personally identifiable information.
- Location Information: When you use the Website, we may collect and process information about your actual location. We use various technologies to determine location, including IP address, global positioning systems, and other sensors that may provide CINC with information about nearby devices and WiFi access points.
- Usage Information: When you use the Website, we may collect and process information about how you use the Website, including how you move through the Website.
- Feedback Information: From time to time, we may request that you provide us with feedback regarding the Website, as well as the products and services we offer. We may do this in the form of a survey or other feedback mechanism. We may collect and analyze this information.

The technologies we use for this automatic data collection may include:

- Cookies (or browser cookies): A cookie is a small file placed on the hard drive of your computer. You may refuse to accept browser cookies by activating the appropriate setting on your browser. However, if you select this setting, you may be unable to access certain parts of our Website. Unless you have adjusted your browser setting so that it will refuse our cookies, our system will use cookies when you direct your browser to our Website.

- Flash Cookies: Certain features of our Website may use local stored objects (or flash cookies) to collect and store information about your preferences and navigation to, from, or on our Website. Flash cookies are not managed by the same browser settings that are used for browser cookies.
- Web Beacons: Pages of our Website and our emails may contain small electronic files known as web beacons (also referred to as clear gifs, pixel tags, and single-pixel gifs) that permit us, for example, to count users who have visited those pages or opened an email and for other related website statistics (for example, recording the popularity of certain website content and verifying system and server integrity).

If you encounter a screen or page that requests information you do not want to share with us, do not enter the information and do not proceed with that screen or page.
